1. Program-Level Goals

- Communicate with confidence and precision across personal, civic, healthcare, consumer, and workplace contexts at a C1–C2 level.
- Apply advanced grammatical structures (conditionals, passive voice, subjunctive, nominalization) accurately in spontaneous speech and writing.
- Independently navigate and advocate within U.S. bureaucratic, medical, and workplace systems.
- Produce cumulative, publicly shareable bodies of work (Week 11 Podcast/Interview Series and Week 17 Community Cookbook capstones) demonstrating program mastery at two points in the semester.

2. Placement & Level Alignment

Level	CEFR Equivalent	Entry Criteria	Exit Criteria
Course Entry	B2+ (verified)	CASAS-aligned placement score at B2+ or instructor override	N/A
Course Exit	C1–C2	N/A	Passing score on Week 18 summative assessment + capstone completion

3. Module Map — 18-Week Schedule

> GRAMMAR FOCUS UPDATE (WEEK 6): Week 6 now uses causative verbs (have, let, make, get) instead of Ventures Unit 6 (tag questions; gerunds and infinitives) — a deliberate substitution for direct real-life utility (DMV, landlord, city-service situations), not an oversight. Weeks 2, 3, 4–10 otherwise still align to Ventures Transitions Units 1, 2, 4–10 in order, skipping Unit 3 since Week 2 already covers reported speech. Weeks 11–18 are not tied to Ventures units.

6. Scope & Sequence Rationale

Weeks 2–10 establish C1 competency across nine core life-domain topics, with grammar sequencing pulled directly from Ventures Transitions' own Scope and Sequence (Units 1, 2, then 4–10, skipping Unit 3 since Week 2 already covers reported speech), with one deliberate substitution at Week 6 (causative verbs in place of Unit 6, chosen for real-life utility over strict sequence adherence). Week 11 replaces a standalone Free Time lesson with a mid-semester capstone — a Podcast/Interview Series — that requires learners to synthesize and orally perform everything covered so far, while folding in Free Time's own vocabulary and grammar (gerunds/infinitives) as interview content rather than losing that material. Weeks 12–16 then revisit the five highest real-world-stakes topics (Work, Health, Daily Living, Shopping, Around Tampa) at C2 depth, where the cost of miscommunication is highest. The second capstone (Week 17) requires learners to draw on vocabulary and structures from across the full semester in one integrated written/oral deliverable, and Week 18 closes with cumulative assessment and public presentation.

7. Review & Revision Cycle

Review at end of each semester cohort. Revise grammar sequencing and deepening-pass topic selection based on which real-world domains generated the most learner questions or errors during formative assessment.
